

To Take Production Tests At Two Didsbury Oil Wells

Drilling operations at Superior Robertson oil well west of town have been completed and preparations are under way to make a final test for production. This past week production casing has been installed in the well and oil storage tanks are now being erected.

At the Olds Bailey No. 1 well east of town drilling is still continuing despite rumors that the well is to be put on production.

The wells, Superior Robertson and Bailey-Olds No. 1, commenced drilling early in January of this year and both were in virgin territory and classed as wildcats.

In commenting on the possibilities of the two wells, the following release was taken from the June 15 report by the Western Canada Petroleum Association.

Canadian Superior Robertson

Canadian Superior Oil of California Limited has decided to run casing at its West Didsbury oil well for extended tests of gas and oil possibilities in the Madison limestone and Lower Cretaceous sands. The well, Canadian Superior Robertson No. 9-16, is located in T. 28-30-3, R. 15-16-3, 15 miles north-north-west of Calgary, and about eight miles west-southwest of the Town of Didsbury.

The testing will determine whether the venture is a teaser or a discovery. The well has completed at a total depth of 10,553 feet, deep in Devonian formation, and is now being plugged back to the Madison preliminary to running casing. The Devonian was not productive at this well. The Madison line overlying the Devonian gave fairly substantial gas flows and slight oil showings on drillstem tests a few days ago. The Cretaceous sands above previously gave some gas and slight oil showings.

Canadian Superior's decision to cease and test its Didsbury oil well further oil industry interest to the general Calgary area of southwest Alberta. Circulating within a forty mile radius, drilling or testing operations are underway in seven areas.

Bailey-Olds No. 1

Bailey-Olds No. 1, T. 28-31-27, with, at Neapolis, 40 miles north-northwest of Calgary, 13 miles due east of Didsbury, and 20 miles east of the Canadian Superior venture. The Bailey well recorded a "wet gas" discovery in the Devonian zone on May 19th, has casing set through the pay zone, and is currently drilling below 9,024 feet. The discovery zone in the Devonian gave on drillstem tests substantial flows of natural gas plus pipe recoveries of a fair amount of light (50-60 API gravity range) crude with closed-in pressure of 3,400 pounds per square inch.

The Bailey well, after casing through this zone, as a probe test measure, went on in search of D3 Devonian zone. Several hundred feet of good, veggy porosity (containing sulphur water) was penetrated, and it is now believed that D2 and D3 zones at this well are joined. No green shale section intervened between the two. Drilling will be halted shortly, the well plugged back, and production tests will be made by perforating casing opposite the D2 pay.

Nine New Bridges To Be Constructed In Municipality

Reeve W.H. Metz presided, and Councillors Fox, Dodd, Goetjen and Roeder were present at the meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Mountain View No. 49, held in Didsbury on Monday, June 11. Councillor Bagnall was absent, being at army reserve training camp at Chilliwack, B.C.

The necessary resolution was passed to authorize the Crossfield Rural Electrification Ass'n., to construct power transmission lines on municipal property.

A car damage claim was received and referred to the insurance company for settlement.

Presenlation Made To Mrs. Jas. Hosegood

With an attendance of 11 members and two visitors the Rugby W.I. meeting this month was held at the home of Mrs. A. Blain. The constituency convener, Mrs. J. Robertson, was present and gave a talk on W.I. matters.

Mrs. McNaughton, official delegate to the W.I. Convention in Edmonton, gave a full report on the proceedings there. She brought wonderful news to the members when she told that it had been mentioned by Mrs. McGorman at the Convention that she missed two well-known faces from the assembly, one of them being Mrs. Hosegood. To make a long story short, the delegate brought back a beautiful electric reading lamp and a teaspoon with A.W.I. motto on it. These were presented to Mrs. Hosegood with the best wishes of the whole Assembly at Convention, and as a token of regret at Mrs. Hosegood's unavoidable absence.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem and lunch was then served.

BIG JIM FERRIER, the lanky Australian who took the Canadian Open Golf Championship and the Seagram Gold Cup a year ago, is expected to defend his title at Toronto Mississauga July 4-7.

DIDSBURY GUN CLUB NOTES

Owing to the fact that some of the local shooters resent the publication of scores future reports of the shoots will contain only scores of 20 or over. This is a mark to shoot at, so turn out at the next regular shoot on Friday evening, June 29 and make the headlines.

Those who turn squeamish at the sight of a hypodermic needle will soon be able to relax. A new instrument called Hypospray Jet-Injector has been designed to replace the needle. An instrument about the size of a flashlight with the spray passing through the hole that is said to be 22 times smaller than the finest hollow needle. The spray goes through the hole at a high velocity and strikes fewer pain nerves than a needle.

Imperative Needs Of Youth of Today

(Royal Bank News Letter)

Youth need not picture its age as a slender, breathless and rather frantic interlude between childhood and maturity. Youth, leaving school and university this year have not reached some place that is an end, a finality. They are too old for some things, it is true, but they are no longer too young for others—that is all.

On school-closing day, every graduating boy and girl has a date with history. It is a date which enters in the significant period toward which their life so far has been an approach. Now, their preparations come to the fruition.

Everyone enters this stirring period with the beginnings already laid of what is to be his personality. He has already begun to assemble qualities to make him what he is as distinct from other persons. His future depends upon how he weaves these traits and elements of personality into something which is stronger than personality—character.

No one will wish to embark upon this second stage of the voyage of life without a chart which will guide him to the harbour of his choice. He needs to decide what he wants and to count the cost. The very act of planning in this way will develop in him something that employers of today find to be the greatest lack in workers: sense of responsibility. Thinking clearly on his own problems will prepare him to analyse, to plan and to master situations. These are attributes which make a man valuable.

The young men and the young women starting out from school this year will wish to formulate a set of general principles by which to set their life of course. Only they can set that course, but we can offer a few suggestions. The youth who graduates this year must recognize:

The need for continuing education;

That living democratically is the most satisfying form of society;

That freedom is an indivisible thing; everyone must be free;

That he is a part of the society;

That broadened intellectual activity depends upon the give-and-take, the communication of ideas;

That everything he hears is not necessarily true; he must sift the evidence;

That he must discipline himself to meet difficulties, unpleasantness, discomfort, frustration and hardship and keep his colors flying;

That he needs a spiritual guardian;

That his greatest material satisfactions will arise from achievement through work.

Some of these were expressed in his "Meditations" by the Roman Emperor Marcus Aurelius Antoninus more than 1,750 years ago: "I learned endurance of labour, and to want little, and to work with my own hands, and not to meddle with other people's affairs, and not to be ready to listen to slander, and not to busy myself with trifling things, and to endure freedom of speech, and to become intimate with philosophy."

Everyone Wants Success

Like education, success is not a finality. Every step is a beginning. It resides in the striving as well as the attainment.

No preparation, no planning and no strategy can guarantee success; one can only deserve it. But if one has fun trying, and finds his happiness along the road, then it doesn't matter if the journey ever ends.

We can go further. Thomas J. Watson, who created the International Business Machines Corporation, put it this way: "The minute we say to ourselves that we have succeeded, we have confessed failure. A man who is doing his best each day is truly alive, but a man did his best yesterday is starting to die."

We may give two hints about success. Do not allow yourself to be put off an endeavour in which you thoroughly believe yourself capable of succeeding just because some people tell you it is impossible. Don't forget that at one time all the world, including its greatest planners and savants, thought it to be impossible that the earth should be round, or that there could ever be a horseless carriage, or that man could travel faster than the speed of sound.

The second hint is: never say to anyone about anything that matters "I don't know." Say, instead, "That's an interesting question: 'I'll find out.'" This is an attitude that has enabled men of only mediocre education and qualities to succeed. It demonstrates an eagerness to serve—and in so serving it adds to one's knowledge.

Ambition May Be Good

We cannot speak of success without mentioning ambition, and we would divide ambition into two kinds: simply good and bad. The latter can be dismissed in a moment by telling an anecdote about Caesar. When he was passing through a wretched hamlet in Switzerland one of his friends was speculating as to whether rivalry and ambition agitated the hearts of such impoverished people. Caesar replied: "I had rather be the first man in such a village as this than the second man in Rome."

The good ambition arises out of our creativeness. We want to ex-

CONSERVATION

"As long as people have enough good land and an adequate supply of water to make the land productive—the main sources of our food, fibre, wood and raw materials for industry—they have the means to overcome, if they will, such handicaps as poverty, malnutrition, inadequate education, and lack of opportunity. Without such resources real and lasting progress is impossible."

"Soil conservation, then is mandatory everywhere over the world if our civilization is to avoid tragic decline, economically and culturally."—Dr. H. H. Bennett, Chief, U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

press in music, in poetry, in writing, in painting, or in craftsmanship, our ability to conceive and produce something notable, or at least worth while. So long as we keep that sense of purpose, ambition is healthy.

Prudence is also in ambition, as well as impulsiveness, and while it is not always wise to wait, it is well to cultivate the ability to wait if it should become desirable. Besides advising us to think before leaping, prudence tells us to keep sight of both the near and distant. A high goal should not blind us to immediate needs.

We are reminded of the philosopher who, while gazing at the stars fell into a pond. If he had looked where he was going he might have seen the stars in the water, but he could not see the water in the stars. Brought down to terms of the youth starting work this year, the moral seems to be: do your best on the job you have, while sizing up the jobs ahead and preparing yourself to fill them.

Within reason, and if it is the right kind, ambition is a good and healthy thing. It should be founded upon a specific, concrete and definite aim. William James tells in his psychology about the hunter in the Adirondacks who shot a bear by aiming, not at his eye or heart, but "at him generally." We should not aim "generally" at successful living, but should select targets one by one, and reduce them piecemeal.

Notes From the D.A.

(Hugh McPhail)

Anyone suggesting a good rotation for an area such as this always includes forage crops. For a number of years our Department furnished seed at a discount, then for a time an effort was made to be sure it was available at prevailing prices. The last few years the Crop Improvement Service has made seed available for several different projects at a reduced price.

The one most used in my district was the Pasture Demonstration. Most of these demonstrations included a mixture of Alfalfa, Alsike, Brome, Timothy, Red Fescue. Some had Alfalfa, some had Crested Wheat Grass, some Reed Canary Grass. These are to demonstrate for the immediate district the value of these mixtures as pastures. Some of them will probably have field days.

The following seeded mixtures of this kind last year and these fields should be interesting to see this year. There is also a different project to demonstrate forage seed production.

Demonstration Pastures

Seed Production

S. O. Robinson, Olds; J. A. McDonald, Hartmann; Adolphe and Leonard Rosehill, Olds.

Seventeen farmers have received seed through my office this year and should be useful demonstrations next year.

A man drawing unemployment insurance, by bonuses on ten children, and housing parents who receive the old age pension, can make a nice living off the taxpayers without working.

LOOK OUT ... FOR THE OTHER DRIVER

Look out for the other driver — he may not be looking out for you. The best way to drive along safely is to act and think as though you are the only driver who is observing the rules. Minding your motoring manners and driving defensively are the best ways to stay out of an accident. You may not have to assume all drivers are careless, but it helps — maybe to live longer.

THIS WAR OF WORDS

"We in the Western World—the world of western civilization—have long been stupefied into defeatism in the war of ideas which is the actual conflict now going on in the world. We have been fooled into accepting the assertion that we are defending the status quo, or reaction, while the other great power in the world is disseminating the revolution. The reverse is true.

"We in the free societies are the inheritors of revolution. For revolution means setting the people free. That is what our system does. Totalitarianism in any form is the reaction. There is nothing new or revolutionary about the police state. It is a despotism as old and as black as materialism itself."

These were the words used by Mr. Edwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, in an address over the C.B.C. network a few months ago. Certainly, they stressed a point that is little understood.

Our ideological opponents are noted for their cleverness in the war of words. They have confused people with their use, or misuse, of such words as "democracy" and "reaction" to the extent that, in international debates, the words have practically lost their meaning.

Well it might be if we grasped once and for all the truth of Mr. Canham's statement, for, Communistic argument to the contrary, we who are the enemies of Marxism are the genuine proponents of freedom and progress.

We, to use the words of Mr. Canham, are the ones who should be singing songs and waving banners and proclaiming our doctrine from the heights, because "we are the heirs of the greatest revolution in human history."

LEARNING BY EXPERIENCE

Back in 1945 the Socialists took office in Britain as the result of a long campaign of explaining to the public that profits were the real trouble with our system of society; that, if profits were reduced and wages increased, then all would be well. In fact, at the time, the Socialists did not seem to have any understanding of the value of profits to anyone except capitalists.

Now, the British Labor Party has published a little pamphlet called "This Cost of Living Business" in which there is quite a different attitude. It turns out that profits are necessary. Corporations get out of their profits the money which they need to expand and re-equip their business.

If there were no profits, then the money for this purpose would have to be found from some other source. The pamphlet does not mention it, but the only other source would be taxation.

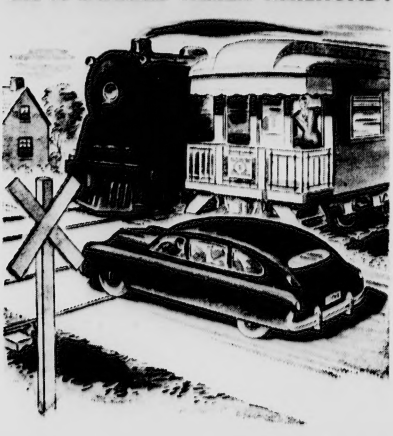

In addition, what profits are left after this process, to be distributed to shareholders, are too small a part of the cost of any item to make much difference in prices. "Even if profits were eliminated altogether, there would still be a cost of living problem."

This is the voice of experience. Perhaps the British Socialists are still Socialist in theory but they at least have learned something about how the world of business functions.

Indeed, they have learned so much that they point out that the only cure for inflation is increased production, and the only palliative even for a short time is to stop all increases in wages, salaries and profits, as well as to impose higher taxation.

Do Canadian Socialists understand all this? They continue to argue that it is profits and not wages which cause prices to be high, but the British Socialists, after six years of experience, feel differently about it.

STOCK CROOKS MAY TAKE YOUR HARD-EARNED CASH

Refugees from the U.S. underworld are known in several cases to be ringleaders in a Toronto-based stock-fraud traffic that brings hundreds of thousands of dollars a month out of gullible investors all over the continent, according to an article in Maclean's, "How The Stock Crooks Operate."

These big-time crooks—U.S. confidence men who fled to Canada to escape possible U.S. arrest—could not apply for broker-dealer licenses in their own names without being investigated by the Ontario Securities Commission. But it is a fairly simple process for them to put up the cash, find a "front" whose reputation will stand up against O.S.C. scrutiny and establish a broker-dealer business that is theirs in everything but name.

Employing semi-talking telephone salesmen, many of whom have spent their lives as confidence men or race-track touts, the stock crooks peddle worthless stocks with "little danger of interference" to potential investors chiefly in the United States—for Ontario laws are hamstrung by legal technicalities in cases of stock fraud which takes place in telephone conversations across provincial or international boundaries.

Barley Winners Can't Compete For Prize

Contestants in the National Barley Contest for 1951 will not be able to compete against national barley champions of former years.

Past winners of the $1,000 award in the western division of the competition will not be allowed to enter this year at all. Neither will barley grown on any of their farms be eligible for entry.

This restriction was decided upon after careful consideration by the Barley Improvement Institute which directs the contest. Twice since the contest started in 1946 the big prize has been won by the same family. The 1950 winner, Geo. Elias, Haskett, Manitoba, was also champion of the first year of the competition in 1946. In two other years it was taken by the Bradley family of Portage la Prairie, Manitoba; Edward W. Bradley in 1948 and his father J.F. Bradley in 1949. Each entered barley grown on his own farm. In the years in which the national championship was not taken by Manitoba it went to Alberta.

Two New Members
Join Bancroft W. I.

Mrs. E. Ohlhausen was hostess at the June meeting of the Bancroft W.I. which took the form of a grandmothers' meeting. Thirteen members and 16 visitors were present, including 12 grandmothers, and the meeting opened with "Silver Threads Among the Gold" and the creed. Roll call was answered with a bouquet of flowers.

A letter of thanks from Mrs. Pross for flowers was read.

It was decided to send two members to the Farm Women's Week at Olds.

Two new members, Mrs. A. McCulloch and Mrs. L. Burnett, were welcomed, and the constituency convener, Mrs. Robertson, spoke briefly on the highlights of the convention.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to entertainment and included two guitar duets by Miss Hastie and Mrs. Fisher, two songs by Mrs. A. McCulloch and Miss Hastie, a reading by Mrs. Good, a contest by Mrs. Fisher, and a relay race conducted by Mrs. Hauser.

Each grandmother received a handkerchief as a gift, and Mrs. E. Swanson won the raffle.

The meeting adjourned with God Save the King and the members served lunch.

$40,000 COMPENSATION PAID
FOR NEWCASTLE DISEASE

Dr. T. Childs, Veterinary Director General of Canada, said recently that more than $40,000 compensation was paid for poultry destroyed during the week ending June 2, under the Health of Animals Branch program to eradicate Newcastle disease.

Reporting on the success of the program to date, Dr. Childs said 12 flocks have been destroyed in Ontario between April 1 and June. Compensation was $23,952 for the 53,924 birds and 29,280 eggs destroyed.

The outbreak has been confined chiefly to Western Ontario, he said. Reports from other parts of Canada for the week ending June 2 showed that there has been no evidence of the disease in Quebec and the Maritimes.

Seven flocks containing 7,746 birds, and 1,861 eggs were destroyed in British Columbia. Compensation for the week was $9,512.

No new cases were discovered in Alberta.

In Saskatchewan, 11 flocks comprising 590 birds and 985 eggs were destroyed and compensation of $1,113 was paid.

Compensation of $5,002 was paid in Manitoba, where five flocks comprising 14,477 birds were destroyed.

An infected hatchery in Ontario was given as the source of the infection in that province. The infection in Saskatchewan was said to have come from an infected hatchery in British Columbia.

It was believed the disease has been effectively arrested although not wiped out.

Total compensation paid last year amounted to $863,660. Rt. Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, told the House recently in answer to a question. Nearly $843,000 of this was paid in British Columbia.

An amount of $250,000 has been provided for eradication and control work in British Columbia this year, the Minister said.

TO BE IN OPERATION SOON

A floating dental clinic, the first of its kind in Newfoundland, will go into operation this summer to serve approximately 2,500 children in the remote Bonne Bay-St. Barbe coast area. It was announced today by the Canadian Junior Red Cross national headquarters.

The Canadian Red Cross "dental ship" is part of a new dental program by which the Juniors hope to promote improved dental health better nutrition and better health generally for children of Newfoundland, Juniors of Newfoundland, Quebec and Ontario raised more than $16,000 for the project.

Dr. Kenneth Pownall of Toronto will serve as first dentist, and his bride of June 9, the former Nora Cumberland, of Toronto, who is a qualified public health nurse, will serve as his assistant. Dr. Pownall was graduated this year from the University of Toronto School of Dentistry.

During the summer months the floating clinic will tour the north-west Peninsula in a ship contributed by the Newfoundland Dept. of Education. It is complete with portable dental equipment, a generator for power, motion picture projector and educational films.

In the winter months the project will take to snow-mobile with Dr. and Mrs. Pownall operating from a base clinic at Bonne Bay Cottage Hospital, Norris Point.

Red Cross Juniors chose the dental program as a project on learning of the acute shortage of dentists in Newfoundland. No dentist practices in the particular area chosen. It is anticipated that the new clinic will demonstrate the importance of dental care and it is hoped that eventually the community will be able to employ its own resident dentist for this area.

NOTES
Field Supervisor

The season is here when the weed conscious farmers thoughts will be turning to the use of 2, 4-D to help control certain weeds. Many factors enter into the successful application of this chemical to obtain the desired results. The important thing is that we want to kill the weeds and not damage the crop in any way. In order to accomplish this, many things need to be taken into consideration.

With perfect growing conditions and adequate soil moisture as we have at the present time it should be an ideal year to use 2, 4-D to good advantage. My articles for the next few weeks will be dealing in detail with this subject. I am also reminding you that the advice and help of your field supervisor in the matter of chemical weed control is yours for the asking. I am happy to be of service in this connection at any time.

Warning To Drivers
As School Closes

Before long, school will be out in Alberta for the summer vacation season. This will be holiday time for around 160,000 youngsters. It should be a healthful joyful one. For a period of two months, many of these children will be free to play. They will have their ball park on back lots or gather in other selected places for sports and other vacation attractions.

During this period, these youngsters will not be under the watchful eyes of the school safety patrols sponsored by the A.M.A. when crossing city intersections. Many of these children will, in a sense be on their own.

This makes it all the more necessary that motorists should be on the alert and guard against accidents when driving through sections where children are prone to play.

A child will chase a rolling ball across a street or highway, or dart from between parked cars, regardless of the traffic hazards. Under such circumstances, the motorist must do the thinking. If his car is under proper control, he can avoid a serious accident.

Parents or guardians of children also have a responsibility. They should impress upon children the need of making certain that it is safe to do so before crossing the road or street.

Let the lessons inculcated by the school safety patrols, so capable during the past term be kept alive during this holiday period.

Kill Weeds With HERBATE 2,4-D

Prairie farmers report increased yields of 4 to 6 bushels per acre by killing out weeds with HERBATE 2,4-D. Yet as little as 10¢ worth of HERBATE 2,4-D is enough to treat an acre... an average cost of only 7¢ to 10¢ per extra bushel.

HERBATE 2,4-D makes weed control easy and economical
Because of HERBATE's high 2,4-D Acid content, as little as 1¢ to 1¢ a pint per acre assures effective, low-cost weed control. HERBATE 2,4-D kills sensitive weeds outright, keeps even tough ones under control. HERBATE 2,4-D helps to conserve moisture, increases yields, reduces dockage.

Biting Insects Now Getting The Bite

Mosquitoes and black flies, the twin scourge of the Canadian north-land, are at last getting the bite put upon them.

Entomologists of the Federal Department of Agriculture's Science Service have been conducting a series of investigations of these countless enemies for the last four summers and have come out with some hitherto unknown facts.

Entomologists at Fort Churchill, Manitoba, carried out ground spraying with DDT on 250 experimental plots ranging from 1,000 square feet to two acres in size. Aircraft spraying encompassed 13 larger plots from one half to two and one half square miles.

Lessons learned here were applied in disease control in the Winnipeg flood areas last summer. Some 60,000 gallons of spray containing a ton of DDT were distributed over 12,600 acres. This treatment resulted in the control of 90 per cent of the adult mosquito population and 85 per cent of the larvae. This helped considerably in preventing an outbreak of insect borne diseases in the stricken area.

New techniques in black fly control developed in Churchill will be a boon to the cattle industry which loses considerable livestock annually through mass attacks by the insects.

The efforts of these scientists, who often acted as human "guinea pigs", should certainly be encouraged. Canada's north has long been forbidden territory for many during summer months due to the voracious attacks of mosquitoes and black flies. The north's growing importance economically and defence-wise demands that steps be taken to reduce the menace of these biting pests.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The fact that there is an effective defence against atomic power will be expounded in Christian Science churches, Sunday. This theme will be discussed under the title, "Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" These passages are taken from the Lesson-Sermon: "And the priests that bare the ark of the covenant of the Lord stood firm on dry ground in the midst of Jordan, and all the Israelites passed over on dry ground, until all the people were passed clean over Jordan." (Joshua 3: 17) "The miracle introduces no disorder, but unfolds the natural order, established by the Science of God's unchangeable law." (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 135).

FERTILIZER SHORTAGE

A world shortage in fertilizer is developing and may hinder attempts to increase food production to feed the world's hungry masses, according to a statement by C. J. Callister of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization. He said that even though the world's production of commercial fertilizers is at an all-time high the lack of sulphur prevents stopping up production to meet greater demands, particularly from Asia and the Far East. Canada, he said, is well supplied, but shortages may begin to develop in the next year.

CORN COBS FOR CONCRETE

Chopped up corn cobs soaked in water several hours yield an excellent ingredient for concrete, according to experiments at the Michigan Experiment Station at East Lansing.

Reporting on these tests, C.I.L. Agricultural News states that corn pellets up to the size of walnuts were found to have three times the insulating value of ordinary concrete, is cheaper and will hold nails and screws. It does not possess the strength of normal concrete but is strong enough for most farm uses.

In preparing corn cob concrete, cobs are ground or chipped into pellets up to the size of walnuts then soaked for approximately six hours.

The final mixture consists of one part cement, one and one-half parts of corn cobs, two parts sand and one part gravel. After the concrete is set, tests showed it could withstand a pressure of 1,360 pounds per square inch without breaking.

At the same experiment station another concrete 25 to 30 per cent lighter than ordinary concrete was made by dispersing bubbles throughout the cement by the addition of a detergent.

STIFFER PENALTIES FOR JUVENILES?

The answer to juvenile crime is not the answer to juvenile crime—"a mathematical gain in human suffering doesn't assure a moral gain to human society."

That's the general line of reasoning voiced in answer to a question asked by the Financial Post. A general lowering of the statutory age definition of juveniles meets with stiffer opposition.

The answer to juvenile crime lies in correction measures rather than punitive, most felt. It's a job for the home, school and church.

A few favored lowering the age definition of juveniles on the grounds that offenders old enough to deliberately commit crimes are old enough to suffer the penalties and mature enough to accept stiffer punishment as a deterrent.

Cleaning up our society in matters of newsstand literature, dress, theatre and license on our streets and in our public places was also offered as a solution to juvenile crime ahead of stiffer punishment. Organized sport was also listed as an aid to better citizenship.

BIG PRICES FOR CANADIAN STAMPS

Canadian stamps fetched big prices at a London auction recently. £120 was given for a 7½d stamp issued in 1852; £140 for a 10d issued between 1852 and 1857; £500 for a set of 1897 Jubilee stamps in blocks of four, ranging from the half cent to five dollars; £185 for a half stamp—a bisected 8d stamp of Newfoundland of 1857; £190 for a shilling stamp of Newfoundland of 1860, and £175 for a two cent stamp issued in 1866.

PROPER TIME TO APPLY 2,4-D IS AN IMPORTANT FACTOR

Picking the proper time to apply 2,4-D is one of the most difficult problems relating to the use of this herbicide. The booklet "Steps Toward Effective Weed Control" states that annual weeds are best treated when as young as possible, providing the majority of weed seeds have germinated. In general, annual plants are most susceptible when young, that is in seedling or rosette growth stages, and increase in resistance to 2,4-D as they approach maturity. Perennial weeds on the other hand, are best when left until they have developed considerably above ground, preferably to the point of commencing to send up the flower stem. When treated at this stage of growth the plant is affected much more than by earlier treatment.

Cereal crops may be treated from the time they have reached the three leaf stage or when the leaves are six inches long, up until they reach their early sheath stage. In general oats are more sensitive to 2,4-D than wheat or barley, and it is advisable to use a lower rate of application. Flax should be treated as soon as weed growth warrants, providing the flax plants have formed three to four leaves. Severe damage to flax may result if treated after the early bud stage.

Weeds are usually more susceptible to 2,4-D when moisture and temperature conditions are favorable for rapid growth.

The booklet "Steps Toward Effective Weed Control" is being distributed free of charge by the Alberta Wheat Pool.

MODERN MECHANIZED HELP FOR ACTIVE DUTY ON THE FARM FRONT

In the campaign for food, mechanized equipment is playing an increasingly important part. Machines enable fewer men on the farms to maintain and increase production.

As a result of the continuous research and experimentation by the agricultural implement industry, farmers today can get tractors, combines, and power machines that offer greater advantages in the saving of time and labor. In times of manpower shortage, modern equipment is especially essential in getting farm work done at the right time to produce best results.

For more than one hundred years, Massey-Harris has been a leader in developing machines that through service and efficiency contribute to the progress of Canadian agriculture. Your local Massey-Harris dealer will be glad to give you particulars of the latest models.

M.V.B.C. NEWS

Miss Gracy Snyder visited the school last Wednesday. She is both housekeeper and dietitian at the College for the coming year, and will begin her duties in August. The College is fortunate to have Miss Snyder take over these duties and responsibilities for she not only has had wide experience in relative work of this kind but she has been in full time Christian service both in the Ontario Conference and The World Wide Evangelization Crusade of Toronto, Ontario. Miss Snyder is a graduate of M.V. B.C.

Did you hear the high school boy's quartet over the broadcast Sunday morning? These four young men have been in the College dorms all winter and have had the privilege of singing in public on a number of occasions. Perhaps you are interested in the personnel and the parts sung by each: Harley Dyck, first tenor; Lowell Hackman, second tenor; Ronald Hayne, baritone; Ormond Shierick, bass. Ormond really goes "deep scalding" with his bass, and all of these young men are to be commended for their excellent rendition of sacred numbers.

With the examinations upon them our young high school friends staying in the College are looking forward eagerly to vacation time. We have heard some say, "Oh boy! Wait till Thursday comes. Our last exam!" Just like all high school young people! By the middle of vacation time they will be saying, "Let's see: when does school begin again? I can hardly wait!" Don't we all remember similar experiences? We shall miss these splendid young people when they leave us. Mrs. Abe Sawatzky is caring for the Ian Stauffer family in the absence of the parents who have gone to the Lachman sale near Alsask, Sask.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Hall of Calgary have kindly donated quantities of flower plants for the school yard. We trust that later in the summer these will make a brilliant showing of color and bloom around the buildings. Abe Sawatzky, our artistic maintenance superintendent, hopes this will be so too, and is enjoying setting these out. We appreciate the givers of these plants and their kind thought of us.

This week many of the interested friends of the College are giving some of their precious time to work on the buildings and grounds of the Campus. Each year they do this, and the College Campus becomes quite a busy place. The ladies are also bringing in rhubarb for jamming. They, too, stay to help. It is only as these friends assist us that we can get sufficient fruit and jam on our shelves for use during the school months of the year. We do appreciate this help, and the help of all who desire to contribute to this work which means so much to the young people who attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoskins served at Eagle Hill on Sunday forenoon. In the evening Mr. Hoskins preached in the Nazarene church in Olds. Two graduates of the College, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Neufeld, were visitors in Didsbury over the weekend and also went to Olds with the Hoskins to bring special selections in song at the service.

SUBSTITUTES FOUND IN INDIA

Investigations carried out by the Forest Department of Uttar Pradesh have resulted in the discovery of a new substitute for jute. Large quantities of marophal, which grows wild in the forests of that state, were recently sent to factories in Calcutta for trial as a substitute for jute. Marophal, mixed with jute, has proved a great substitute for jute in making gunny sacks.

Eleven members of the Willing Workers attended the June meeting held at the home of Mrs. L. Jones last Wednesday afternoon. Bill call was answered with "describe a wedding dress."

Two letters were received by Mrs. J. P. Schrader and were read.

Three committees were chosen for the picnic. Mrs. W. Herbert, Mrs. L. Jones, and Mrs. F. J. Jackson were elected members of the supply committee; Mrs. L. Bolton and Mrs. J. Cowie as coffee and welner committee; and Mrs. H. Jackson and Mrs. R. Jackson as food committee.

It was again decided to attempt to paint the hall, weather permitting, on June 14 and 15.

The July meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Cowie and will be delayed until July 18, owing to the picnic being held on the regular date.
